I think I have both the USB and line-in interfaces enabled, but I can't load any tunes. I just get a grey square with the loading symbol in the middle. Any ideas? MacRumors attracts a broad audience of both consumers and professionals interested in the latest technologies and products. We also boast an active community focused on purchasing decisions and technical aspects of the iPhone, iPod, iPad, and Mac platforms.Q: Python `str.join` is O(N) while regular `string.join` is O(1) What is the difference between a string.join and str.join in Python? >>> str.join(('hello', 'world'), ', ') 'hello, world' >>> string.join(('hello', 'world'), ', ') 'helloworld' I would expect the output to be 'helloworld' and not 'hello, world' as the documentation says. What is going on here? A: The documentation describes join using strings as this: Join a list of items, separated by the specified separator. Items are usually strings. If separator is None, join returns a single item consisting of the entire sequence: "". While, join, when it's called on a str as a sequence or a string, describes it as this: Join elements of a sequence or list, separating them by a separator string. If the separator is None, this method returns a list of the
